

Arthure

The infinity of the memory

Its gentleness and the mysterious face are just like its art. Kindness of the heart, the simplicity of the material, the mystery of the surrealism, everything carries to believe that this noble painter feeds on his love of the others to visit his cave and make implode his painting. In a typically surrealist initiative, Arthure travels by means of the vision, he is the visitor of a for ever current genesis. All year round, he takes you in journey, trip in the memory of the humanity, the hike towards the light. Open your spirit and your heart, be allowed go according to your soul, according to a primitive music, follow the light coloured with the memory to be on first-name terms with the top of the artistic pleasures.

Of international fame, Arthure proposes you a universal language, the one who for a long time moves closer to the men beyond races, beyond history. On his palette, the artist mixes since his debuts, the colours of his journeys through time. Every picture of the boss seems extracted from some original magma of the life and from the earth. This matrix of the previous history gets him the genesis which he needs to extract this divine light which will allow him to find the road lost of decisive moment, of the sending of the senses.

On a noble cloth, Arthure makes vibrate the elements of the life and the earth.

Tracks and imprints get involved with the pictorial medium. A pictorial and graphic writing outside time, leaving to each the own reading. The artist pulls the spectator towards the discovery of his creation.

Dark tints which bleed the cloth are only a case of the light of the thought of the artist.. After a slow maturation of overalls sky and maritime, greens abound in an overflowing(brimming) nature, browns feed on the rich earth and ochre ignite of the heat of the universe. These harmonies of colours seem to open as to let the spectator visit his cave. Release your materialism and be allowed carry by the luminous waves of the existence: the richness is in us.
